Circumstantial Evidence- Italy through the Lens of Balthazar Korab

October 27 – December 16, 2012

Reception/Book Signing & Brief gallery remarks

October 29, 6pm

HGA Gallery, Minneapolis Campus

Guest curators and authors: John Comazzi and Christian Korab

In 1964, nine years after arriving to the United States and five years after opening his own architecture photography studio, Balthazar Korab was awarded the AIA Gold Medal for Excellence in Photography. He and his wife Monica decided to take their two children on a one-year sabbatical to Florence, Italy. This exhibition is drawn from his photographic portfolios from that year that bear witness to scenes of raw beauty, natural disaster, everyday urbanism, and the robust monumentality that composed the cultural and physical landscapes of Italy.

Balthazar Korab: Architect of Photography will be available for purchase at the reception.

Support for this exhibition provided by the Rapson Hall Exhibitions Fund with support from Judy Dayton, Goldstein Museum of Design and the College of Design.
